eath of a Worthy Man-A Citizen Paralyzed-Exciting Accident. dence of the Richmond Dispatch.

PETERSBURG, April 7, 1886. Mr. L. E. Clarke, auditor of the Richmond and Weldon division of the Atlantic Coast-Line, died at his residence in this city at an early hour this morning; aged thirty-five years. Mr. Clarke was a native of Oneida county, N. Y. His family settled in Chesterfield county some years ago. Young Clarke first received the appointment of local agent on the Petersburg railroad. He was subsequently promoted to the position of train-dispatcher, then to that of auditor, and finally, on the death of the late W. P. Taylor, was elected treasurer of the road. His steady promotion was due to his merit. He made most capable officer, and enjoyed the fullest confidence of the companies he served. On the reorganization of the Atlantic Coast Line he was elected Auditor of the Richmond division. He was a deacon in and treasurer of the Washington-Street acthodist Episcopal church, see leaves a widow and three children, and an insurance of about $8,000 on his life.

Mr. Albert Davis, a very popular young man, and for a time a resident of Richmond, died a day or two ago in Dinwiddie county of consumption, after an illness of about two months. Mr. W. 'P. Browder, a well-known and honored citizen, was stricken with paralysis yesterday, one entire side of his body being affected. It is stated that his mother has been prostrated for some months from the effects of a

A board of military officers, consisting of Colonel Joe Lane Stern, Captain John D. Ragland, and Lieutenant R. T. Madison, met in this city last night and examined a number of non-commissioned officers of the white and colored military companies here. Their report will be made to the Adjutant-General. In addition to the companies of the Fourth Virginia regiment, who have been requested to participate in the memorial exercises of the 9th of June, invitations have been sent to the Richmond Light-Infantry Blues, and the Light-Infantry Blues of Norfolk, to join our military in honoring the occasion. The visiting military will be the guests of the Petersburg Grays and will receive a cordial welcome.

In the Circuit Court of Notional States of the equestrian statue of Lee saw fit to disparage other sections of the city. Whore especially was this directed toward Marshall Park, which, by the way, seemed to be the choice of the majority. It is said that this is "an out-of-the-way place." To those who have no conveyances of their own—and they constitute the larger number of our people—there are none of the locations mentioned which are more easy of access than this park.

It is said by another that "the tide of emigration is setting towards the West." To some extent this is true. But I will venture to say that within the last two years there has been more ground covered by new houses on the plateau which forms the crown of this hill, east of Twenty-second street, than on an equal area of ground in any other portion of the city, More especially was this directed toward Marshall Park, which, by the way, seemed to be the choice of the majority. ROBIN ADAIR.

> COLPEPER. APRIL 6, 1886.

Visitors who knew our town of last year would scarce recognize it were they placed in its business centre to-day. The continued rain has prevented the removal of the débris of the fire, and our streets and sidewalks are yet obstructed with bricks and burnt lumber, but contracts are being made and the burnt district will be rapidly rebuilt was discovered that sixteen barrels of brandy and whiskey had been rolled out from somewhere and deposited in the garden lot of the Norris es-tate, opposite the burnt district. On investigation it was found On investigation it was found that no Government stamps ornamented the barrel-heads, and no one came forward to claim them. Later some eight barrels suddenly disappeared, and a crowd soon assembled around the remaining eight. They were taken possession of by the deputy marshal, but before he could have them removed the head of one barrel was knocked in and a regular scene of confusion ensued. Cans, buckets, &c., soon took off the contents of this barrel. The marshal had the others locked up and set about trying to find out where the liquor came from and who was the owner. Sunday it was stated to the authorities that five barrels of brandy were lying in a piece of pines on Mr. J. Ambler

Brooks's farm. These were sent for and also locked up. Later two kegs of brandy were found in Mr. Nelson's mealow. Mon-day morning Deputy-Marshal Grayson arrested Mr. Benjamin Hall, a liquor merchant doing business at the store formerly occupied by J. C. Bell, as the suspected owner of the liquor, and from whose premises, it is alleged, it also arrested as concerned in the remond to-night. This affair has created considerable excitement in our town. as it is believed there are others concerned in the illicit transaction. The fire has paralyzed all business in our midst.

Our Piedmont Fair-Grounds are advertised to be sold on Saturday next, but we hope some arrangement can be made by which they will be saved and the fair continued.

Matters in Matthews County. MATTHEWS COURTHOUSE, VA.,) April 6, 1886.

We are having a spell of rainy, disagreeable weather, which will practically suspend all farm-work for several days to come.

The Board of Supervisors have retained Maryus Jones in five civil suits against county officers, some of which reach back to former incumbents. These eases will be heard at the present term of the court.

A rather unexpected marriage took place in Baltimore a few days since, the contracting parties being Colonel Lemuel James, of Westville, and Miss Columbia Williams, of Chesapeake town-There is some trouble here among the Knights of Labor about the unloading of lumber ashooners along the street of lumber as a lumbe ing ordeal of many others who have been finally yoked in the pleasant harness of matrimony.

> Wedding in Hampton. (Correspondence of the Richmond Dispatch.)

HAMPTON, VA., April 7, 1886. A large number of our citizens—ladies being in the majority—gathered in the Presbyterian church on yesterday at 6 o'clock P. M. to witness the marriage of Miss Maggie L., daughter of L. Sheetz, to W. E. Lawson, Esq., a popular young merchant of the town. Rev. Mr. Anderson performed the cere-mony, Mr. J. T. Bentley presided at the organ, and Messrs. G. W. Hope, Sr., and W. H. Boyenton acted as ushers. At the conclusion of the cere-mony the bridal party, together with many invited guests, repaired to the residence of the bride's parents, where a reception took place. Mr. and Mrs. Lawson left for Old Point to take the steamer Old Point for Cape Charles City, where they took the train for a tour to Philadelphia. PAUL.

Marshall Park and Lee Monument. To the Editor of the Dispatch :

I was grieved to see by your edition of Sunday that so many who expressed their opinions as to what they thought the best site for the equestrian statue portion of the city, while the number of new houses erected in Port Mayo

This wonderful improvement is due to several causes. First, to its healthiness. Elevated far above the river, with an open field extending for tailes beyond, there is no obstruction to the breezes which fan the brow of the son of toil when he comes home in the evening weary and tired. There is quiet; almost a Sabbath's stillness prevails over the greater part of it, and this the man who works all day delights in when he reaches his home to rest from his labors. Last, but not least: For the last decade this and of the city has had in the Council representatives fully alive to the interests of their wards, and they have been ably seconded in their efforts to improve it by the far-reaching segacity of Colonel Cutshaw, City Engineer, who, seeing what nature had already done for it, at once adopted a system by which the streets have been greatly improved, and in most localities property has been thereby largely snhanced in value. Marshall Park, once a barren hillaide, is now covered with a beautiful green sward. Lovely drives and walks under the shade-trees, and fringed with hedges, and a fountain throwing up its cooling waters, now offer to the sight-seer a picture of rare beauty. Chimborazo Park, once occupied by a crowd which made night hideous, is now as lovely a spot as can be found. A well-graded road connects the two hills, and they are visited by all strangers who come to the visited by all strangers who come to the

This tide of sight-seers will be largely increased when the road to the National cemetery is made, passing, as it most likely will, by the eastern side of Chimborazo Park. All these combined serve to make Church Hill the finest, prettiest, and most healthy place for residences of any within the limits of our levely city.
